Re : To Whom It May Concern

This is to certify that Dolly Bisht completed a React.js internship with CloudWaves, an early-stage startup currently under formation, from 3rd Jan to 7th Feb.

During this period, she worked on frontend development tasks using React.js, including building reusable UI components, integrating APIs, and improving user interface functionality. She showed good technical understanding, a positive learning attitude, and professionalism in completing assigned tasks.

The internship engagement was concluded earlier than initially planned due to internal administrative and registration-related delays. This decision was purely organizational and was *not related to her performance or conduct.

We appreciate her contributions and wish her the very best for her future academic and professional pursuits.

Issued in good faith.
